

Gael and AVISA announce new partnership to transform aviation training

London, Wednesday 18th November 2009

AVISA Aviation Safety Systems Ltd ("AVISA") www.avisaltd.com, the global airworthiness and safety consultancy, announces today that it has signed a joint venture agreement with Gael Ltd ("Gael") www.gaelquality.com, an award-winning software developer.

This new partnership is set to revolutionise how aviation organisations worldwide can train staff.

AVISA is a global aerospace airworthiness and safety consultancy with offices in the UK, Eastern Europe, Scandinavia, Asia and the Middle East. AVISA works to ensure high safety standards and business improvements for its international clients in both the civil and military aviation sectors. With a proven successful track record, AVISA uses the very best industry and regulatory practitioners in order to deliver market leading training services.

Gael provides software solutions to facilitate both personal and organisational improvement enabling organisations to gain value through demonstrating compliance. Working with clients in the aviation sector, Gael aims to transform necessary compliance activities from a costly overhead into a business benefit with commercial advantages.

Gael's online learning suite, Gael Academy enables organisations across all industry sectors to implement a flexible and scalable framework for training staff, with instant access to training videos, quality management courses and live tutorials delivered by Gael experts.

Ian Chapman, AVISA UK Operations Manager:

"This partnership supports aviation in a way that up until now has been unavailable. The combination of our strengths will enable us to offer cost effective aviation training by applying new and unique methods.

I recognise in Gael Academy a long awaited and professional on-line e-learning tool that combined with our regulatory and consultancy experience and training knowledge, will transform the way consultancy and training support will be delivered to all sectors of our business.

Gael Academy offers the industry instant access to learning tools and resources with which regulators and aviation organisations can co-ordinate training and encourage ownership of Airworthiness, Quality and Safety Management Systems at all levels and in all areas.”

Ashley Marron, Gael Ltd’s Chief Operating Officer:

“AVISA offers the widest range of Aviation Safety Training courses available, and Gael Academy seemed a natural complement in directly deploying such training to staff, as well as serving to drive the adoption of Quality and Safety Management Systems throughout the organisation.

In extending the management of Safety to all levels and all areas, the Academy enables more effective management of both Safety and Quality. This new partnership will allow aviation organisations to adopt a more co-ordinated approach to developing and maintaining a safety culture.”
